School budget passes, incumbents returned

By MICHAEL DANIELS

SAD44 voters Tuesday easily approved the school district's proposed budget of $10,253,190 for the coming fiscal year.

The budget, which is up 2.5 percent from the current year's figure, was approved by margins of more than 2 to 1 in four of the five district towns.

The exception was Newry, where the budget also passed, but more narrowly, 35-22.

The vote tallies for the remaining towns were: Andover, 102-36; Bethel, 318-122; Greenwood, 59-26; and Woodstock, 111-42.

District-wide, the budget passed 625-248.

Bethel elections

In Bethel voters also re-elected incumbent school directors Roberta Taylor and Carol Everett.

Taylor received 276 votes, Everett 258, while challenger

Visitors can now sift for gems just off Route 26

By ALISON ALOISIO

"When you hold up a stone that's been trapped in darkness for 10 million years, it's a magical moment," says Zoltan Matolesy.

That thrill of discovering a tourmaline, garnet, quartz, beryl or other gem, has had Matolesy and his wife, Jody, hooked on rockhounding for many years.

Now they and partner Jim Clanin, a geologist and mining engineer, are tapping into that same vein of enthusiasm in other rockhounds.

A year ago they established Western Maine Mineral Adventures, located on Route 26 in South Woodstock, next to the Molloyckett Motel.

For $10 anyone from a seasoned gem hunter to the merely curious can fill a bucket with material hauled in from Mt. Mica in Paris.

Local families interested in taking part in regular rockhounding trips and other activities will soon have the option of joining a club.

Albany miner Jan Brownstein is organizing the Western Division Junior Geologist Club.

Brownstein owns and operates the Songo Pond Mine.

The club will be an offshoot of the Central Maine Jr. Geologist Club, based in Gardiner.

Sixty graduates of Telstar Regional High School received their diplomas Friday evening in a ceremony at the school.

As the class marched into the gymnasium, the Telstar band played "Pomp and Circumstance."

Principal Ted Davis opened the commencement, followed by the band's rendition of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Michael Gilbert and Mark Antell welcomed family and friends.

Class of 2008

Antell told the class, "With humor, you can soften some of the worst blows life delivers. And once you find laughter, no matter how painful your situation might be, you can survive."

Third honors student Bailey Davis followed, providing an insight into human behavior starting with energy at the cellular level.

"We are responsible for the energy we create," she said. "It is our thoughts that define us. Positive thoughts are transformed into positive energy, and negative thoughts are converted into negative energy ... it is positive energy that makes us feel good and allows us to be of service to others."

"If you want to feel good, just love," she said. "Love your

Just in time for summer Bethel's swimming hole is open again

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The swimming pond at Bethel's Angevine Park reopened Friday, June 6.

The pond had been closed since last July, when a storm of unprecedented violence — described by one state emergency official as a 500-to-1,000-year event — destroyed the Chapman Brook watershed and left the pond, which is located near the base of the watershed, heavily damaged and filled with hundreds of yards of muddy silt and other debris.

Angevine Park is located on five acres of land (donated to the town by Ernest and Alberta Angevine) 2.2 miles west of Route 2, between the North Road and the Androscoggin River.

The park opened in August 2004, following several years of efforts by town officials and others who wanted to ensure that local kids and adults had a safe, accessible place to swim.

The swimming hole proved increasingly popular, until last summer's storm, which not only filled the pond with debris, but also spread muck and sludge elsewhere in the park, eroded the parking lot

SKATEPARK MOVES AHEAD

To the Editor:
Friends of Davis Park met Friday, June 6 and discussed the skatepark revitalization project at Davis Park. Friends of Davis Park is a 501(c)(3) organization formed to support the betterment of Davis Park.
On behalf of the Skatepark Committee, Friends of Davis Park applied for and received a grant from the Tony Hawk Foundation. The $5,000 from the Tony Hawk Foundation will be used to upgrade the skatepark. Two more grants have been applied for and any money received from these would also be used for a new skatepark.
Sam Batterson of Breaking Ground was contracted to design a new skatepark for Bethel. He met with skaters, parents and supporters last month to hear what this community would like to have in a new park. A halfpipe and bowl were high on the list, and all agreed that the park should be about 55 percent intermediate level, 23 percent beginner and 22 percent expert. We look forward to seeing Sam's plan.
Friends of Davis Park will be in contact with the Skatepark Committee in regard to contacting other possible supporters and having a booth on the common on Mollycoddett Day.
Anyone wanting more information on Friends of Davis Park or wishing to make a donation may call Maura Rodway at 824-0415 or write to Friends of Davis Park at P.O. Box 705, Bethel, ME, 04217.
Anyone wanting to donate returnable bottles to the Skatepark Fund may leave them at Wheeler's Redemption in Bethel. Let Tim know you'd like the money to go to the Skatepark Fund. To have bottles picked up, call me at 824-2115.

JET-SKI BAN VIOLATES RIGHTS

To the Editor:
The court's most recent decision to uphold the ban on jet skis is only another sign of the over-regulating habits of our society and government. I see it as a direct violation of personal rights and the freedom that our forefathers fought so bravely to accomplish. It is a shame that our society has become so arrogant as to feel they can press restrictions upon other citizens to solely benefit themselves.
I have lived all summer long on North Pond in Greenwood for the last eighteen years. I remember the annoying sound of the machines and their loud buzz. However, I never felt it within my right to say that someone else can't enjoy them! I am completely against the ban. I also find the occasional regatta on the pond slightly annoying and disturbing to my scenery (not to mention that annoying horn they use during the race as well), but I see no reason to press my wishes upon them so as to take away something they enjoy. Maybe the least the government and local supporters of the ban could do is to send financial compensation to the victims of the dreaded crime against their own neighbors for they did spend thousands of dollars for their craft.

CPS LABELS THANKS

To the Editor:
Students and families of Crescent Park School would like to express their appreciation to the many people who have helped us save UPCs, lids, certificates, box tops and bottle caps.
We have collected 9,340 points in the Campbell's "Labels for Education" program. We sent in 4,561 "Box Tops for Education," with many more to be sent. That's $459.17 for the Student Activity Fund. The "Hannafoord Helps Schools" certificates earned $96 for the fund. Hood "Sox Tops for Kids" caps earned an additional $108.70 for the fund. That's 2,174 bottle caps!
CPS is deeply grateful to our volunteers Caroline Gould, Mary Dooen, Clarice Gibson, Kelly Stone, Marie Witter, and Alicia McLean for the many hours sorting, trimming and counting for these programs.
We are also grateful to the Bethel Foodliner for allowing us to keep a collection box in the store year-round.
Please be sure to keep saving UPCs, box tops, lids, certificates and bottle caps during the summer. This is a wonderful way to support the children at Crescent Park School. We always appreciate the support from our friends in Bethel and beyond! Thank you.

SUCCESSFUL FIRE ATTACK SCHOOL

To the Editor:
Bethel was once again the scene for a successful Western Maine Fire Attack School, and unlike 2007, this year the weather fully cooperated. Over 100 students, vendors, and instructors enjoyed sunshine and temperatures in the 60s. We couldn't have hoped for better weather especially considering so many of our classes involve outdoor practical training sessions. The town of Bethel, the Bethel Fire Department, along with many regional businesses, all chipped in to help ensure our school's success. We couldn't do it without the support of the region.
A visitor to this year's May 16th-19th weekend school was Janet Wilmoth, editorial director for the international publication FIRE CHIEF Magazine. Wilmoth was a guest of the school and spent the weekend as a visitor to the region as well as to learn more about fire training in rural areas.
Paris Farmers Union and Hebron Academy helped to sponsor an Interior Wide Area Search class, taught by Chief Jeff Lemming from Xenia, Ohio. Joe Cormier, a dispatcher for Oxford County and a structure firefighter from Paris Fire Department attended the training. "It was incredible training and now we want to develop this training for our schools and large businesses," said Cormier.
The Frandford Mutual Aid Fire Training Association, and others who worked with the Western Maine Fire Attack School, would like to thank the following for their generous support to make the 2008 school a success: Gaudreau's Repairs, SAD44, the Town of Bethel, the Bethel Chamber of Commerce, Bethel Highway Department, the Bethel Airport, Western Maine Supply Co., Hancock Lumber, Jon Swan, Good Food Store, Gould Academy, Paris Farmers Union, Andover Wood Products and Hebron Academy. The Association would also like to thank the Bethel Fire, Hebron Fire, Norway Fire, and Dixfield Fire departments for their use of trucks and equipment.
Anyone interested in learning more about WMFAS can keep in touch with the school's plans for 2009 by logging on to the home page of the Frandford Mutual Aid Fire Training Association's homepage at www.frandford.org or calling 966-2280.

Gems

SEARCHING FOR TREASURES—At Western Maine Mineral Adventures in South Woodstock, customers can screen leftover material from the mining operation at Mt. Mica in Paris. Here, Kim Woldhuis looks over a stone as Bruce Friedland sorts through the washed screenings. At the left end of the table is a second screening box that has just been shaken to separate out fine material. In the background is a pile of the material brought from Mt. Mica.

bucket into a screen and shakes it to separate out the dust and sand.

The screen is then placed in a large pan of water to remove any remaining residue, and the hunt for gems is on.

Mt. Mica has a history dating back nearly two centuries, to 1820.

Tourmaline crystals of many colors have been found there over the years, by a succession of owners/miners.

Many other kinds of gemstones have also been found at the site, including beryl, garnet and various types of mica and quartz.

The mine is now owned and operated by Gary and Mary Freeman, who purchased it in 2003. It is currently closed to the public, but is operated year-round.

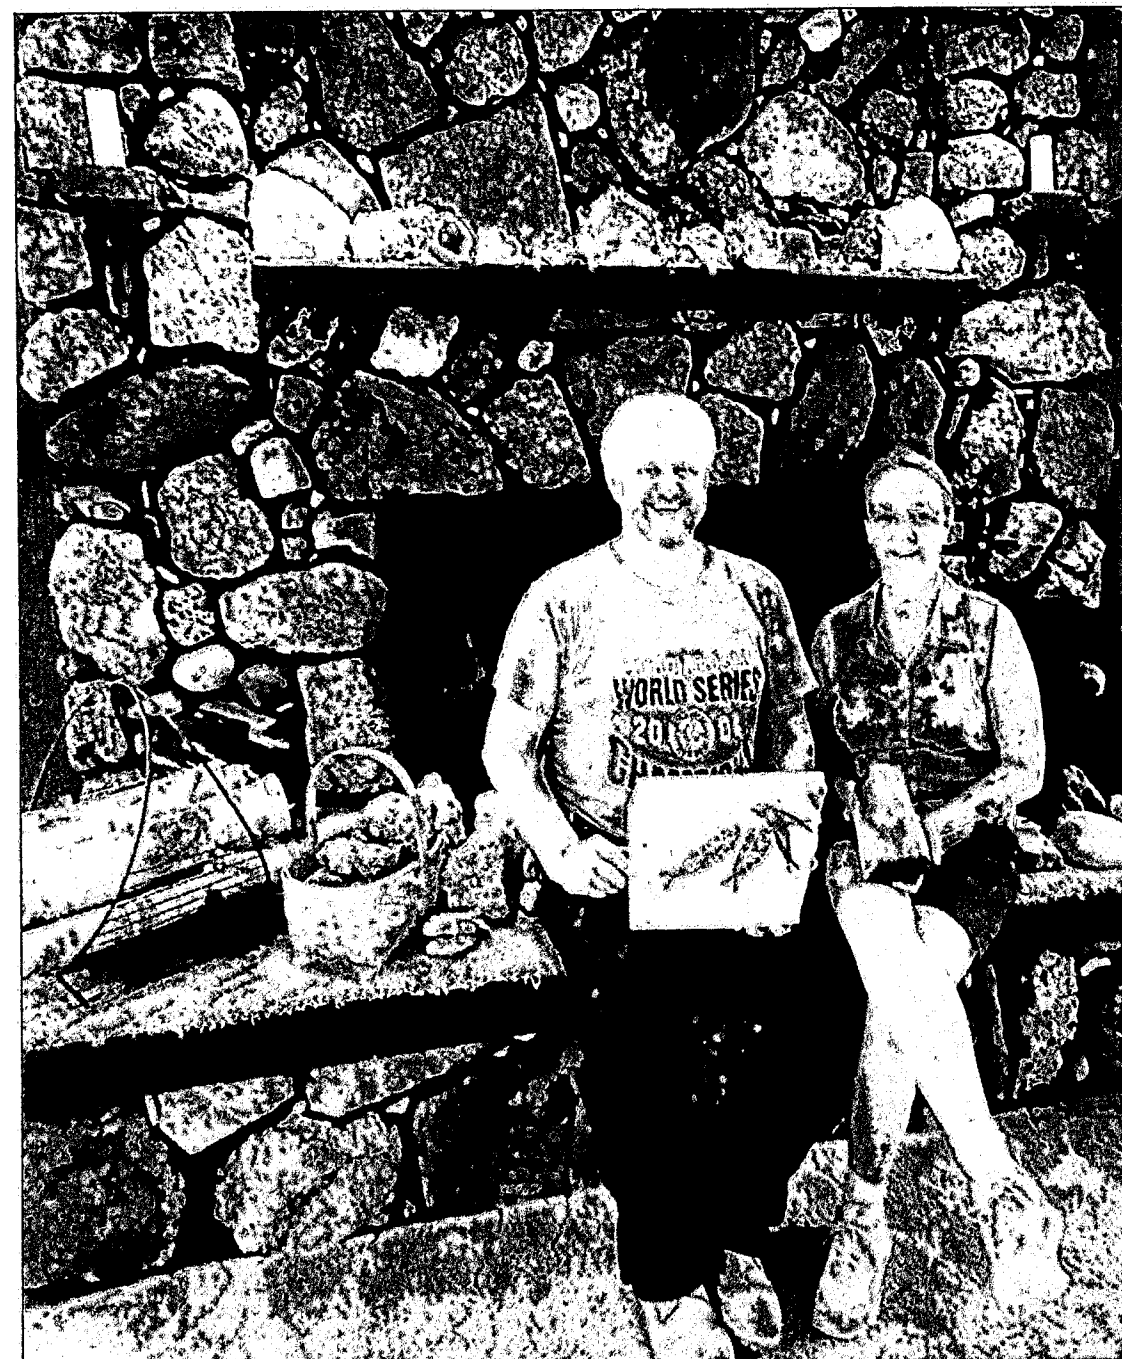

Clanin estimates a 15-cubic-yard load of rock a week is brought in to his site from Mt. Mica. While the material is castoff from the mining operation, it's a higher grade than average, he said.

Clanin said a few people have found gems worth up to $1,000, and local jewelers are benefiting when the lucky finders bring the stones to be mounted for rings and other items.

Some customers search through their bucket and then take the rest home to look some more.

"We had one family who came and got a bucket to share," said Clanin. "Then they came back the next week and said they wanted a bucket for each of them - they had fought over the crystal they had found."

LOCAL MINERALS SOUGHT—Tim and Fran Buck, owners of the Mollycoddett Motel in Woodstock are well along on their new restaurant and conference center, which is expected to open later in the summer. And the Bucks — shown here holding fossils of fish and petrified wood — hope local rockhounds might like to see their own specimens displayed as part of the new facility's centerpiece fireplace — similar to this one, already in the motel's existing office. For more than three years, the Bucks have been gathering materials to incorporate into the new fireplace, and they have specimens from almost every state, many different countries, and all the continents save Australia and Antarctica. But western Maine has its own rich geological history, and that will be the focus of the new fireplace. More than 300 mines have operated in Oxford County, the Bucks note, and each year the area's mineral wealth attracts more than 80,000 visitors here. Anyone with a specimen they might like to have become part of the new fireplace is asked to call 674-2345. Individual recognition will be given for all donors. And, yes, if anyone happened to have minerals from Down Under, or Way Down Under, that would also be great.

Citizen discontinues television listings

Effective with this edition, The Bethel Citizen will no longer carry television listings.

The decision was made primarily in order to free more of our space for local news and photographs.

We also took into consideration the reality that information regarding television programming is now readily available (and in far more comprehensive and detailed form) from numerous other sources.

We sincerely hope the change will not inconvenience our readers. If you have any comments or questions, please feel free to call us, at 824-2444. —MRD

Briefly

Route 2 section rebuild moved up

GILEAD—Thanks to another $7 million in funding recently approved by the state, the reconstruction of a 1.55-mile stretch of Route 2 originally scheduled for 2011 will take place next year. Already scheduled for 2009 is a 1.95-mile section starting at the west end of the project currently under construction. The second section, which stretches to the Wild River Bridge, has now been added to the schedule. "Both sections and the bridge are now scheduled to be advertised in the late spring to early summer of 2009," said Mark Hume, MDOT Region 3 engineer. Because the reconstruction work will take place sooner than originally thought, plans to do maintenance paving this summer on the 1.55-mile stretch have been dropped, he said. "We will be doing some patching in the worst spots, but to pave the entire 1.55 miles this year and dig it up next year would not be good use of our limited paving funds," he said.

Girls' soccer coming to Telstar

BETHEL—The SAD44 School Board Monday approved a new girls' soccer program for Telstar High School. "This has been talked about for a number of years," said Superintendent Dave Murphy. "There's enough interest to generate a program." He said the program would be relatively inexpensive, at an estimated cost of $2,500 to $3,000 for the first season. The team would likely operate as a club sport for the first few years.

Andover approves Med-Care pact

ANDOVER—About 120 voters turned out for a special Town Meeting Saturday and easily approved the extension of Andover's 10-year interlocal agreement with Med-Care Ambulance. The agreement expired Saturday. The town initially rejected renewal at the annual March Town Meeting. Many residents objected to the Med-Care plan to build a new $2.2 million facility in Mexico. But the Med-Care Board of Directors voted last Thursday to drop the plan for the facility. Two other Med-Care member towns, Rumford and Mexico, also voted initially against renewal. Mexico then approved the agreement Saturday in a special Town Meeting, and Rumford selectmen approved it last Thursday. Some area officials have advocated to amend the agreement to require a referendum vote on expenses exceeding $250,000. At Andover's meeting, several residents argued that in order to help ensure the Med-Care Board does not try to bring the facility back on its own authority alone, Andover should appoint a new board member to clearly represent that stand. Fire Chief Ken Dixon is the current representative. Several Andover citizens praised their town for taking the lead among the 11 member towns in rejecting the new facility, and expressed thanks to Bethel for offering temporary ambulance service had it been needed.

Other spending OK'd; apts. made

ANDOVER—In addition to approving the extension of the town's 10-year interlocal agreement with Med-Care Ambulance, voters Saturday approved several other items on the warrant, including $4,000 for ambulance service for the rest of 2008; $5,000 for the Town Hall Improvement and Maintenance Account; and $5,000 to restore 30 fence and five gate sections at the Woodlawn Cemetery. Residents also approved the use of concrete to replace some sidewalks in the village, using $8,200 approved at the March Town Meeting. Voters appointed Dinah Cutting, Jackie Gammon, Elissa Thibodeau, Marshall Meisner and Claire Sessions to a Landscaping Committee to plan the replacement of rotting trees on the common. Those at the meeting declined, however, to approve $1,000 to buy new trees, in anticipation of a recommendation from the committee. Appointed to the town's Budget Committee for the upcoming year were Dick Merrill, Dinah Cutting, David Percival, Freeman Farrington, Donna Libby, Todd Papiannou and Judy Tabb.

TV and CPU dropoff in Andover

ANDOVER—Andover residents are asked to bring their old TVs, computer monitors, and/or CPUs to the Transfer Station this weekend (June 13-15). There will be a Uniwrap pick-up on June 20. The first drop off is free; additional are $5 each.

Reminder on child-labor laws

AUGUSTA—With the school year coming to a close, many Maine teens are looking ahead to summer vacation and summer job plans. With that in mind, Maine Labor Commissioner Laura Fortman this week reminded employers, teens, and parents of child labor laws protecting young workers and the process for obtaining a Work Permit in Maine. Approximately 30,000 Maine teens aged 16-19 will participate in the labor force this year with either a full-time or part-time job. Nearly 4,500 teens under the age of 16 will be employed with a work permit. "Summer jobs provide an opportunity for teen workers to earn extra spending money and learn basic job responsibilities. Child labor laws and work permits help ensure that these early working experiences are positive and that teens are safe on the job," said Fortman. Child labor laws prevent teen workers from working excessive hours. Schedules are restricted for all workers under 18, but only teens under 16 years old need work permits. (See below for legal work hours for teens.) Employers may not employ minors in jobs that expose them to dangerous working conditions. Some of the jobs Maine teens under 18 years old cannot do include operating most mechanical equipment, driving for work, and working alone in a cash-based business.

Nesta Littlefield led prayer — A Page 12 photo caption for the Bethel Memorial Day observance on the common should have said Nesta Littlefield was leading a prayer.

Three-volley salute — The caption for our Front Page photo of the ceremony in Bryant Pond should have said that a three-volley salute was fired in honor of those lost at sea. Club tal participation encouraged, "the family essentially signs up for it," said Brownstein.

The club will generally get together twice a month — the first week of the month will be a meeting/educational presentation, and the second week a field trip.

Because the club carries its own insurance, members will be able to go to active mines that might otherwise not allow members of the public, Brownstein said.

Trips could also include overnight camping outings to New Hampshire.

While the main focus is rockhounding, Brownstein said the activities will also have a natural conservation orientation.

The meetings/educational presentations will take place in a new rock shop Brownstein is setting up in his house, located near the Song mine.

"Every meeting will have a teaching aspect," he said.

The club has a component similar to scouting organizations — members can earn badges for specific areas of activity/study.

Examples of topics include fossils, gold panning and prospecting, collecting, rocks and minerals, gemstone lore and legends, Stone Age tools and art, lapidary arts, earth processes and rocking on the computer.

Brownstein said the central Maine club has been very successful with its format, and he hopes to replicate it.

He plans to hold an organizational meeting in July. Trips this summer would likely be local. Generally, trips would take place between April and November of each year.

Parents would serve as officers of the club.

With the wealth of gem and mineral resources for which Western Maine is famous, Brownstein hopes local youth and their families will want to learn more about what's in their own backyard.

"This area is a no-brainer," he said, for a rockhounding club.

For more information contact Brownstein at 824-3898. The local club is also expected to have a website that will be linked to the current central Maine club's site at www.jr-rockhoppers.org.

self, love your family."

Davis also encouraged listeners to release negative energy through forgiveness.

"The forgiving heart is capable of anything," she said.

Salutatorian Jen DeNormandie described her experience in the Telstar Challenge class, which she found to be the most valuable of her high school courses.

In training for a whitewater canoeing experience, she and her partner struggled to work together, she said.

"We were polar opposites. We were always butting heads," said DeNormandie.

But they persisted, and in the end believed they had the best time of all the class members on the trip.

Drawing on that experience, DeNormandie offered pointers for the graduates: persevere when the outlook is bleak; compromise to reach a common goal; and work together, even with those you aren't close to, and anything is possible.

Valedictorian Jessica Yasko also spoke about cooperation.

"We work together and help one another to reach goals, destinations or perhaps merely the next day," she said. "We believe in our futures, that we will have one that is bright and beautiful."

She thanked parents teachers and friends for their support for the class.

Following Yasko, Chelsea Bean, Bliss Benson, Ben Rosenberg and Patrick Milligan offered "Reflections," memories from the school years.

They have been, they said, "a class so comfortable with each other that we sang over 50 songs coming home from the Balsams yesterday. It's obvious that we love each other, even though we may fight over class songs and bicker about a lot of things. We'll never forget what's important — the friendships we've formed over the years."

They reminisced about class members' junior high romances, dressing up as the Spice Girls, the elementary schools competing against each other, and "every girl realizing they have girl power ... and some guys realizing it, too."

The class then sang "Here's to the Night," by Eve 6, and Chair Becky Cummings of the SAD44 School Board offered congratulatory remarks.

Superintendent David Murphy certified the graduates, and Principal Ted Davis presented the diplomas.

As is tradition, each graduate offered Davis a small item as he handed out the diplomas. This year each grad provided one piece of a puzzle made from a photo of the entire class.

Class co-presidents Esther Pew and Brianne Bailey gave the farewell, encouraging the young adults to vote in the November presidential election.

And, the pair said, their class and generation are obligated to use ever-expanding new technologies, together with wisdom, to fix the problems of the world.

Dean of Students Charles Raymond closed the ceremony, praising the class for working together well during graduation week and encouraging them to continue to be supportive of each other.

For Project Graduation activities, the class traveled to Maine Indoor Karting in Scarborough.

Voting

Peter Hedden received 172.

In other Bethel races, all uncontested, incumbent selectmen Jack Cross (358 votes) and Dennis Doyon (330) were also re-elected, as were assessors Donald G. Bennett (358) and Robert Blake (318).

The following evening, Wednesday, June 11, Bethel voters reassembled at the Crescent Park School to take up the remaining 38 articles on the warrant for their annual Town Meeting.

The results of Wednesday evening's voting will be posted by noon Thursday on The Bethel Citizen's homepage: www.bethelcitizen.com.

and flattened hundreds of feet of the park's fencing.

Town officials had no choice but to close the park for the remainder of the season.

By the time it reopened Friday, $68,300 had been spent on repairs and other improvements.

Seventy-five percent of that money came from the federal government, 15 percent from the state, and the balance from the town.

At a special Town Meeting last August, town voters approved the spending.

The work was done by the town crew and local contractors, assisted for several days by a vacuum truck from the Rumford Highway Department.

The work included pumping hundreds of yards of sludge and other debris from the pond, repairing the parking lot, replacing 1,000 feet of chain-link fencing, restoring and rip-rapping the Chapman Brook stream bed in the area of the pond, relining the pond with filter fabric, replacing beach sand that had been carried away by the floodwaters, and installing a permanent draw-down pipe.

"The project involved months of five-day-a-week attention," said Bethel Town Manager Scott Cole.

Select-men's meeting of June 2

There was some more discussion by the Board and town manager about wage and benefits policy pertaining to town employees. The last few times this topic has come up there was a question about how domestic partners fit into town employee benefit offerings. This time we learned that Maine has a domestic partner registry. So if a domestic partner has been able to properly register, he or she should qualify for the town's employee benefits - when available. To be able to continue this discussion after Town Meeting, Town Clerk Christen Mason was asked to poll other towns to see how their policies compared with Bethel's.

Between this meeting and voting day on Tuesday, the Town Clerk advised the Board that she would conduct a full-scale, nearly day-long test of a new voting machine the town received from the state.

One member of the Board described his concerns over the impact of skateboard park and playground improvement on future traffic congestion. The walking path is already sometimes congested. The concern is that work is done to make the parks more attractive; however, nothing is planned, nor are some ideas on ways to increase parking and add to safety laid out.

From the Hill

Bethel Hill correspondent, Steve Seames, has reported on news about the excellent job Vernon Davis's painting crew has turned in working on Rick Whitney's building (Maine Line Products) and also that Lawyer O'Donnell's house is feeling the luxury of some fresh paint.

Gould's Baccalaureate was well attended by families and some of the Old Guard Gould grads. Bonnie Pooley retired from the English Department

- honors and a well-deserved respite from teaching.

Dwight Lord was another Old Grad heard from this week - his case from distant Minnesota. Dwight has been following development and contributions to the Vernon Street ski tow story. And he can claim a first; he has renamed the area to "Mount Vernon Street." One of the somewhat surprising elements of Mount Vernon Street's origins was that the skiers organized and incorporated probably the first Bethel Ski and Outing Club, Inc. This club's officers and committees led the planning, coordinated volunteer workers and established a legal means to accept donations of money and material. John P. Howe was the club's first president.

Calling for trail volunteers
Saturday, June 28, 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., 10 volunteers needed to help clear brush and rough out the trail from North Road to the Good Food Store. Lunch will be provided, thanks to the Jolly Drayman at Briar Lea Inn, Rooster's Roadhouse, and the Inn at the Rostay. Contact Andy at jael13@cornell.edu or by telephone to (617) 970-5104.

News from Oxford County Democrats

The Maine Democratic Convention smashed all records for such events in Maine with 3,700 attendees, with a record 150 from Oxford County. County Chair Cathy Newell of Greenwood reported that following the upgrade of alternates to delegates, 98 percent of delegates' slots were filled.

This is certainly a record, as was the number of delegates elected at the February caucuses who are under the age of 21. Despite graduations and athletic commitments, five of our young delegates were able to participate in the convention, and others are committed to participation during the campaign, Newell stated.

The Oxford County delegation favored Senator Barack Obama over Senator Hillary Clinton by 12 percentage points and Newell reported that there was a strong feeling of unity amongst the attendees along with enthusiastic support for both candidates.

Young Frary Ready to Cut Oil Prices

Here's a summary of the problem. Our Congresscritters want lower prices but oppose more production to increase supply. They want oil independence while forbidding exploitation of most of the big sources of domestic oil. In order to reduce menacing greenhouse gases they want us to use less oil but oppose higher oil prices that reduce demand. They want more oil company investment and they yearn to tax away the profits needed to finance that investment.

Conclusion? Well, I've been accused of being too negative in my commentary. So I won't tell you my conclusion. Hint: see title above. More immediately, New England's oil dealers understand that soaring prices have no visible relation to the current balance of supply and demand. U.S. oil executives agree. They told Congress recently that prices should be between $35 and $90 a barrel.

The oil dealers' complaints are undeniably correct. Speculators don't deal in current prices. They deal in guesses about future prices. They buy and sell paper contract and never take delivery of oil products, except the occasional bottle of extra virgin olive oil for personal use.

The oil dealers believe the solution is legislation that will prohibit speculation. I have received e-mail requests, as a long-shot candidate for Congress, to support a law written by Connecticut's Rep. Larson. Unless and until I receive some explanation of how his proposed legislation will prevent speculation from moving off-shore, to financial markets in London, Paris, Duesseldorf and Zurich, I must decline to do so. Oil is an international commodity with an international market. Speculation cannot be controlled by the United States Congress.

It may be that Rep. Larson has found the time between his duties as Vice Chair of the Democratic Caucus, member of the Ways and Means Committee, member of the Subcommittee on Trade and member of the Subcommittee on Select Revenue Measures to master the intricacies of a 500-billion-dollar commodities market. That's assuming that he isn't spending a lot of time dialing for campaign dollars, mingling with his constituents, posing for photographs, making speeches, and working to promote a feasibility study of the Colville section of Hartford as a first step in gaining a National Park designation for the area from the Department of the Interior.

It may also be that the Hartford Superstatesman's experience as a high school history teacher and insurance drummer has equipped him for tackling this stupendous task.

Or it may be that he is simply another vote-hungry blowhard latching onto an issue about which he knows about as much as your average trolley-car conductor.

Speaking from my own 32-year experience as a chalk-smearing drudge in a community college classroom, I propose that Congress unite behind the 'American Energy Production Act of 2008' designed to expand oil production off the U.S. coasts and in Alaska.

It will not bring back cheap oil, because the new fields involve more expensive methods of extraction and transportation. It is said to have the potential to increase domestic production enough to keep America running for five years without any foreign imports whatever. I have no expertise of my own to support that estimate, and it will take some years to deliver that quantity.

It would however cause the speculators to reconsider their guesses about future supply. That is about the only method I can see for lowering current prices.

Wood Pellets and Solar Heating

Next door at the River View Resort, the McGreys are already into two major energy conservation/energy production steps. Chad showed me the first solar water and space heating that they have installed in the condo building. The condo units are located in two level slices. Hot water heating in the first two units to go solar has the solar heated hot water exchanger plumbed into the second floor hot water heater which is directly under the collectors. This hot water heater is the master of the two and circulates hot water to the one floor below so that both stay at about 150 degrees. Light overcast does not seem to affect the ability of the system to keep up the temperature. The other solar panel set up is a single panel designed to produce warm air and it is directed at heating the lobby. Jim List of Hanover is the solar heating contractor on this job. Last summer, Jim installed a somewhat similar setup at Bethel Outdoor Adventure.

PLAYGROUND TAKES SHAPE—Volunteers Saturday installed new playground equipment at Davis Park in Bethel. On Monday, concrete was poured to secure the posts, and wood chips (to provide a safe surface) were scheduled to be spread on Wednesday. The park was expected to be ready Thursday. (Photo: A. Aloisio)

River View will also get a wood pellet boiler and central heating system. Components for this installation are on order. The furnace's efficiency is based on the pellet-feeding mechanism and special burner. More news about this installation as time goes on and parts arrive.

Not to feel left out, Kathy and I got a 40-pound bag of wood pellets from Western Maine Supply to try in our existing heating devices. Two other means of wood pellet heating are wood stoves and fireplaces. We also have a wood boiler for heating with solid wood. Chad cautioned me against expecting any efficiency from the wood boiler because the burner assembly is where wood pellets do the most good. We have, however, used it successfully to warm up four rooms on evenings when it was chilly. A small amount of pellets created hot water in the boiler more quickly than solid wood. Running it for an hour warmed these four rooms up satisfactorily. The ash pit had less than a quart of ash to clean out. We also tried out pellets in a fireplace. Special inserts for using pellets in fireplaces are getting quite easy to obtain—online or from fireplace stores. Our one experiment on a cloudy chilly evening turned out well. Pellets flame up quickly and warm the room faster than solid wood. Our "insert" was a cooking pot strainer. We filled it about half way (a gallon or less) with pellets and got about an hour's useful flame. More pellets can be added to the fire. Although we did not use any physical energy, no chainsaw gas, no cutting down trees, no lugging in wood, it would take a week-long spell of cool weather to find out how many bags of pellets would be needed to keep warm. A Massachusetts Division of Energy Resource's paper on the Internet says that one ton of pellets is equal to 120 gallons of heating oil. Systems to handle a ton of pellets would involve a silo-like storage container and bulk delivery by a truck that looks like it was delivering cattle feed.

A Bethel Inn golf getaway is the prize for a really big adventure.

Sunday's Boston Globe had a story and photo about a newly married Quincy couple who were kayaking in the ocean off Vancouver Island when they saw an orca whale (the kind you watch in Sea World shows) heading straight for them. With no way to escape, the husband, Tom Angus, did the next best thing—whipped out his camera and got a photo of the whale's back and dorsal fin from about 12 feet away before the animal dove under the kayak. Later he entered the photo in the Globe's Adventure Travel photo contest and won the golf getaway at the Bethel Inn.

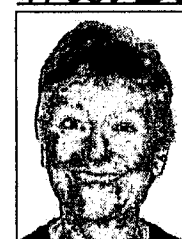

Mayville and Bethel in "The Bollard"

Randy Bennett gave me a copy of a Portland publication called "The Bollard"—News, Views and Portland area ads, which has a "Downtown, Maine: Bethel" travel write-up by Elizabeth Peavey this month. Three of the spotlighted attractions in the article are Mayville's Barbecue Bob's and Good Food Store, the Jolly Drayman Pub and Rooster's Roadhouse. In all, 11 places in Bethel are covered as well as Step Falls and Grafton Notch in Newry. In June "The Bollard" is celebrating having survived as a publication for one year. It is also on the Internet at www.thebollard.com. As far back as the 1870's publications like this were available to travelers exploring the White Mountains and western Maine. In those days, two places listed as being available for tourists and traveler stop-over were the Poplar Tavern and the forerunners of the Bethel Inn—Bethel House and later the Prospect Hotel.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

First of all, let me apologize for the absence of this column last week. It seems that while Megalink was making the transition to Onmail, our computer was OFFmail for about three days. I discovered on Wednesday that the column that I typed and thought I had sent off on Monday was still sitting in my outbox. So some of the news is old news this week. Thankfully, all systems are in order once again.

There has been a lot of white in the woods here of late. The white blossoms of goldthread, starflower, and Indian cucumber root are everywhere; also bunchberry (dwarf dogwood, or cornus canadensis), Canada mayflower, and cherry trees are all in flower. In addition, we note that the clintonia is blooming, its delicate clusters of tiny, yellow, lily-like flowers atop a tall stem, surrounded by three elongated oval basal leaves, somewhat reminiscent of lady's slipper leaves, but not ridged or pointy. And speaking of lady's slippers, they are near peak.

Mike reported a wonderful fishing experience on Friday before last in the Androscoggin. With his trusty flyrod, and Jake observing from the bank, he caught and released seven fish in two hours. The unusual thing about his bag was that there was one speckled trout, four rainbows, one salmon, and a brown trout—four species in one day! Then the next day he caught and released four more fish!

Jerry Vincent called to say they had been visited by a bear or bears. One took apart the suet feeder and ate the suet. Then it grabbed the tube feeder and smashed it completely. There was also a bear on the upper deck a couple of weeks ago, outside the bedroom window. Shireen successfully shoofed that one away.

Jerry adds that he has seen a white-crowned sparrow, unusual for these parts because it is a sub-arctic bird. The Vincents have abundant lady's slippers on their property, as well as a pair of nesting broad-winged hawks. Jerry watched one of the hawks soar and then dive, presumably on some small rodent. The other interesting sighting he had was a young porcupine in the garage, chewing on a 2x4! Good Thing Tess was in the house, because getting quilled is no picnic for a dog.

Our baby phoebes fledged on Monday morning. At 8 I saw two birds sitting there, and at 9 they were gone. For the longest time we weren't even sure they were there, and the adults' activity seemed to be limited to pooping on my clean laundry. Then this last week there was a lot of comig and going to the nest platform, and we could see and hear the babies.

Graduations have been happening all over the place. Gould held their week-end before last. Congratulations to Jonathon Parsons on being class salutatorian. He is a very accomplished young man in all areas and has a bright future. He will attend Cornell University. This past weekend Telstar had its commencement exercises on Friday, and we offer congratulations to our nephew, Chris Schwarz, and wish him luck as he pursues a career in hotel management.

The Westleighs' granddaughter, Annie Costello, was also among the Telstar graduates. Her parents, Lisa and Paul Pivin, had a party for her on Sunday afternoon. Attending were two sets of grandparents, Linda and Reggie Westleigh, and Jean and Roger Royer of Florida who flew up for the occasion. Linda's aunt, Isabel Bennett of Lexington, Mass., also came north for the festivities.

Saturday was commencement at Mount Blue High School in Farmington. Our oldest granddaughter, Elisabeth Stancioff, received her diploma. She was valedictorian of her class, so we were able to hear her address, which used the Harry Potter book series as a metaphor. She stressed the importance of friends, family, and teachers in helping the graduates to become who they are, and she closed with the exhortation, "Go be heroes!" Elisabeth will attend Brown University in the fall.

Afterward there was a party at the Stancioff home in Cheshire, with family, friends, and classmates sharing in the happy occasion. Needless to say, there are some very proud grandparents around here.

Let me know your news and flora/fauna sightings. 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net.

I forgot to thank American Legion Post 68 for honoring our war dead at the East Bethel Cemetery on Memorial Day. Thank you very much.

Sheila Bernier and daughter, Alexandra, of Camden, S.C. and her sister, Dee and Dee's daughter, Kayleigh, arrived at Andre and Flossie Bernier's home on 25 May. They had a good visit and left to return to South Carolina on 28 May.

Barbara Honkala played with the Maine Kanteles at the Mission Congregational Church in West Paris on 8 June. This was to benefit the public library in West Paris.

Barbara Honkala and Milie Jackson had some unwelcome visitors about the middle of May. The four-legged kind that like to raid bird feeders. To stop it, they have had to take in their bird feeders every evening.

Arlene Harrington visited Lori and Carl Hallman in Durham 6 to 8 June. She attended the graduation of her last grandchild to graduate from high school on 6 June.

Mona and Earl Coolidge were in New Hampshire on 6 and 7 June to attend a friend's child's graduation from high school.

If you have any news, give me a ring at 824-3350. The mugshots have arrived. It was wicked this past weekend. A show of things to come, I am sure. God Bless the Troops.

Summer is finally here! Nice warm weekend. My brother, Steve McLain, has finally had a chance to get out to work on his garden, since the rain finally stopped.

The Red-headed Woodpecker is still visiting our feeder every day. I decided to look up on the Cornell University website to find out some more information on this bird. The following was taken off their website: <http://www.birds.cornell.edu/AllAboutBirds/>

BirdGuide/Red-headed Woodpecker.html.

"An unmistakable bird, the Red-headed Woodpecker is striking at rest and in flight, showing its colors of red, black, and white. It is one of the most aggressive members of the family and one of the most omnivorous.

Breeding Bird Survey data show the species is declining over much of its breeding range. An edge species, it declines where forests mature. It is increasing in areas where beavers are increasing and creating more flooded beaver meadows with dead snags."

This website is great. There is a lot of information on birds and there is also a link to listen to what they sound like. All birdwatchers should check it out if they haven't had a chance to already.

When Carol Small from Orrington came over for a visit this past week, we couldn't believe how much we did in three days. Lots of visiting and catching up at first. Then out to finish planting, clearing areas, watching a flock of geese heading north on Tuesday and then south on Wednesday. Probably just a fly-over to find water to land in. On Tuesday, we headed to Bethel and had coffee with Mark at his home. We then had a wonderful supper at Rooster's Roadhouse. In the evening we worked on a puzzle that Carol had brought over. I'd never worked on one that didn't have even edges. Very difficult. Around midnight a little black and white creature decided to let us know he was out in the yard. The smell was close and very unpleasant as skunks are known to be.

The next day after doing a few chores around we decided to head to Northlands for lunch. We both ate more than we usually do at noon, especially with their wonderful desserts. A quick stop at Wal-Mart to get me a bug net and as soon as we arrived back home, tired and full, had naps for a half hour. Not much for supper, but just had to finish the puzzle so it was another late night.

After lunch on Friday, Carol left for Orrington. I'll be going over there for a visit when Heather and her family come up from Georgia in early August for a book signing of her latest book, "Boatyard Ducklings."

On Sunday, Karlene Bachelder and Gilbert Seeley had lunch at Bethel's Best. Forgot to ask Karlene if the air conditioning was keeping them comfortable.

Mark and I had lunch at his apartment Sunday noon. "Afterwards we did a few errands and I was home in the heat just before 1 p.m. It was much cooler inside. I am glad I watered a few plants around 5 p.m. as I didn't think we were getting the rainstorm that had been predicted. I was wrong.

Gardens should be flourishing with the rain and heat.

Hello readers, what an absolutely warm week-end.

Fortunately the town hall wasn't too too hot for the meeting on Saturday morning. Usually once it warms up in there, it will be that way until September. My house warmed up by Saturday night, I guess it's time for the air conditioner to be put back in. Hello electric bill! The heat doesn't seem to bother my dog much, she is still as rambunctious as ever. I took her to the vets last week for her yearly visit, and Dr. Stuer asked if she was an active dog, because she didn't have an ounce of body fat on her! I wish my doctor would tell me that!

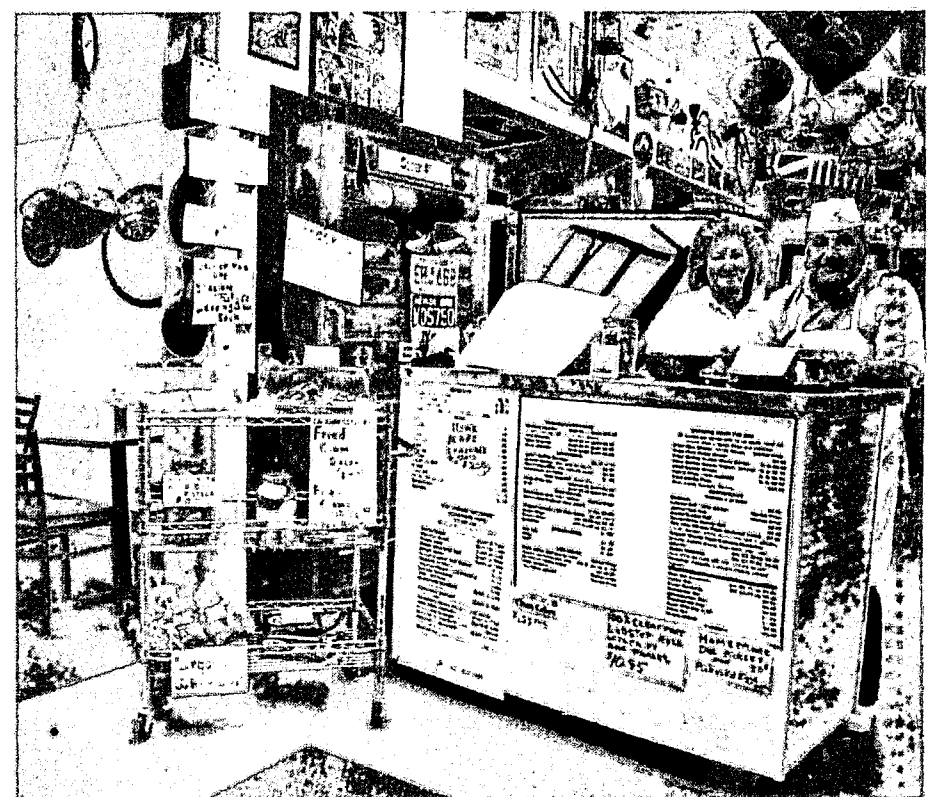

This Saturday, June 14, there will be a pancake breakfast put on by the Snow Valley Snow-Goers at their new clubhouse behind David and Betsey White's. It starts at 7 a.m. until sold out. Cost is $5 per person. Treat your dad to an early Father's Day breakfast.

Swimming lessons through the Rumford Community Center will once again be held this year at Roxbury Pond. The first day is sign-ups at noon time at the main beach (third beach) July 21. They will run for two weeks through August 1.

Paula Smith recently visited with her son John Putnam and family in Asheville, N.C. The weather was beautiful, in the 90s each day, although rain is much needed in that whole area.

Last Tuesday, Norma and Freeman Farrington and Barbara and Orville Meisner boarded a bus and attended a concert at the Civic Center in Portland, The O'Donnells (maybe some of you have heard of them). They ate supper at the Old Country Buffet, a nice time was had by all.

Monday May 26, Peg Madigan and her mother, Dot Mills, headed over to Brookfield, N.H., to visit with Karen and Bob Vachon.

Happy birthday this week to Julia Putnam on the 17th.

Get well wishes to Honey Cronin, who was in the hospital last week.

Saturday, May 8, former Andover resident Darcy Morse was the guest of honor at a bridal shower in Mexico at the Green Church.

She is the daughter of Donna and Stan Morse of Andover. Friends attending from town were Sharon, Margerite, Ruth and Susan. The room was nicely decorated for the Bridal Shower Tea by her mom and friends. Darcy has set a wedding date for September.

On Saturday, June 14, the Andover Recreation is hosting a bike rodeo at the Andover Elementary School. It will be from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m. All children participating will receive a free helmet.

I would like to wish a very happy retirement to Andover's fifth-grade teacher John Emery. He is officially retiring from his job when school ends this year, June 20. As many of you know, John has been at the Andover Elementary School for a long time! Thirty five years; he started at Andover and ended at Andover. That in itself is something special. He has taught many Andover children and now he is on second generations, teaching their children. Unfortunately I never had him as my teacher, he came the year I left for Telstar Middle School, but my kids had the privilege of having him. John, or Mr. E, as he is better known, will be sorely missed by the Andover School community.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

A special town meeting took place on June 2, at the Hanover Town House.

With 14 voters in attendance, Norman K. Ferguson, Jr. was elected moderator. Within 30 minutes the school budget for the 2008/09 school year was passed and was voted on again on June 10, during the referendum voting. Authorization to enter into a new contract with Med-Care Ambulance Service was approved with no debate at the Town Meeting.

The Hanover Planning Board met on June 4. There was a discussion about permits that had been issued and some that possibly should have been issued. The Board continued working on the update to the Shoreland Zone Ordinance.

Congratulations to all area graduating seniors from local high schools. Especially noted is Adrian Bouthot who graduated from Gould and Michael Fleet from Telstar. Joan Tucker's granddaughter, Kayla Giberson graduated from Mountain Valley. She has worked in the area and often stayed with Gram Joan.

Another person of local interest is Natalie Nardone. At a young age, she was an accomplished TV and movie actress and is now associated with performances on You Tube. To view some of her work go to www.youtube.com/boomerbaby55. Natalie is the daughter of Claudia Couture Nardone and she often summers at Howard Pond.

Judy Ray flew into Portland International Airport last Thursday and was picked up by Jim. They have been enjoying the warm summer weather, somewhat different than the cool Texas weather.

Amateur Radio Operator Dave Worcester attended the Pine State Amateur Radio Club Hamfest in Hermon last Saturday.

Josh and Tanya Lempert and family who owned a house on Mill Hill Road have moved to the Auburn Area. Josh owns and operates Snow Grind, a system of making snowboard bowls and he travels all across the country providing his service. Tanya is an emergency department nurse at a Lewiston Hospital.

Next Saturday, June 14, there will be a meeting for officers, trustees and interested individuals at Gardner Roberts Memorial Library. It is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. Last year on June 10, the Gardner Roberts Memorial Library was moved from Howard Pond Road to the new site on Ferry Road. Work continues on book displays with a lot of the work being done by Peggy Sussbury, Amy Verrill and Paulette Booth. It is hoped that the library may open soon after school ends. Last Saturday Michael Mills Landscaping planted four fir trees next to the library to provide a backdrop for the lovely little building. Ray Taylor donated the trees and their installation.

A couple weeks ago I mentioned how fast our asparagus was growing; a gentleman "from away" who has a seasonal camp on Howard Pond phoned to ask if he could buy some fresh asparagus. Mona enjoyed the sound of his southern accent and told him, "Sure. Come up and get some." So, he did. He told me he likes to come to Maine during early spring because he enjoys visiting with the locals before the "tourists" get here. He goes home for the summer and returns in the fall after most of the "tourists" have gone home. I found out that he worked for a branch of the Dept. of Defense during the time I was a B-52 crew member in North Dakota; we had a good time comparing notes on what was "really going on" during the Cuban missile crisis when JFK was President. I showed off my garden as we talked, and gave him a large bundle of asparagus before he left. Oddly, he said he isn't supposed to eat asparagus because it disagrees with his gut, but he really loves the stuff and will eat some regardless!

I am outdoors most of the time that the weather allows, and I regularly come with one or more wood ticks (dog ticks) on some part of my body. This year we have a bumper crop of ticks, and I have had dozens on me (cumulatively) by now. One evening while showering, I even found one in a very private area. Last Monday, as I was standing at the counter in the Bethel Post Office, the young lady behind me pointed out that I had two wood ticks on the back of my tee shirt. I reached around and was unable to reach either of them, so I asked her where they were. "They are in the middle of your back!" "Well, how about picking them off for me?" "No way! I'm not touching those things!" Sometimes, a man has to do what a man has to do, so I pulled off my tee shirt and dispatched the ticks. I love squeezing them between my thumbnails! About that time, Monica Ludden came around the corner from the P.O. Box area and asked, "Why are you getting undressed in here?" I had to explain the whole sordid story while the postmaster and others watched speechlessly! God, I love this country!

Al and Crystal Lake have returned from a week's stay in England where they got acquainted with their new granddaughter, Hailey June, and visited the parents, Jessica and Brent Lake and proud big brother, Hunter. The new little puddle is really lovely and I should know because I have seen her pictures. Congratulations all! Gerry Shimamura visited her new great-grandson last week, Silas Warren Hodson, in Bangor where parents Shandy and Charles Hodson reside. Joe was spending a week in Japan with son, Jody and granddaughter, Katy. The Shims have been busy attending graduations.

They went to grandson, Benjamin Paul Shimamura's graduation from Johnson and Wales College of Culinary Arts and Hospitality in Providence, R.I. before the Japan visit and then attended grandson David's graduation in Ohio. From there Jody returned to his work in Texas, David headed off for boot camp, and the Shimamura's returned home.

Cleo and Lauriat Corriveau, long-time residents of Locke's Mills, are celebrating 50 years of marriage. The family would like to invite you to join in the celebration with them June 14 at the Locke's Mills Legion Hall from 12 to 4 p.m.

Historical Society
The Historical Society museum has various products to sell this summer, including tickets on a breakfast basket and basket of books to raise money for the Society. These are called "theme" baskets. Do buy something to help support the organization. The Society members look forward to welcoming you this summer. The museum is now open on Saturdays from 1 to 4 p.m. They have wonderful collections to show you. There will be special exhibits throughout the summer. Curator Larry Billings catalogues and displays the exhibits. Everyone benefits from his efforts. Mary Billings has supplied notebooks of clippings covering events in the recent past that carry on the historical research of the late Ruby Emery.

The Historical Society has a lovely old desk donated some time ago. It sits on graceful, turned legs. There is also another very old desk in the George Allan England collection of furniture.

They also have framed letters from presidents, senators and governors also a document in the handwriting of Sidney Perham, a Maine governor born and buried in Woodstock.

The Billings family went out for dinner at the Covered Wagon in Mexico to celebrate Paul's birthday.

Quite a change in the weather from last week.

Late Sunday afternoon my back thermometer, which was in the sun, registered 106. Summer is surely here for over the week-end Oxford County had several garage or lawn sales that beckoned me to stop.

On Sunday, June 15, at the West Paris Universalist Church the Rev. Richard Beal will speak on "The Heaven and Hell of Fatherhood" He will be celebrating "Dads" in all their wonderful and conflicted variety. All are welcome.

On Saturday along with Old Home Days the Church will be open for all to see the two large tapestries hanging in the back of the sanctuary. They are in memory of our former Minister, Rev., Joy Gasta, and are Hopefully there will be more news as folks come and go for vacations. Please let me know so all will know.

Albany

by Sheila Dylke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township! Well, last week's rain showers certainly helped a bit with the water on top of the hill. But, we certainly have had some very humid weather! That must mean that summer is just about here.

Congratulations to all of the graduating seniors of Class 2008! The last day of school for the other students is June 20th (must be to make up for all of the snow days). I really hope the AC is running in the school.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless & Keep!

Waterford

by Rockie Graham

It's happened again, we've gone from having a morning

smudge fire to get that air conditioner on, now! These hot, ozone-laden bad air days are dangerous for us asthmatics as well as the elderly and the young. David is out taking care of the garden and I am in the house with the AC keeping me breathing. Is it any wonder I hate the hot days of summer?

I've noticed the butterflies, lately. They flit about and pass through the gardens. Hard to believe they have short lives. We also have a lone tom turkey in the neighborhood. I could sic Tasha on him because I just yelled at her for not leaving our turkeys and chickens alone. She always wants to herd them and keep them in place.

Yesterday while driving on Rt. 37, I saw a fox crossing the road. Just one, but he/she was headed somewhere. First one I've seen since I've lived in Waterford. One more reason to guard our chicks carefully. Hope we don't see any of the big cats!

Today, Thursday, June 12 at 7 p.m. at the Wilkins House there is a program presented by the Waterford Congregational Church "Health Care: Political, Spiritual or Both?" It is free.

Also on June 12, the Waterford, Stoneham, Albany Lion's Club is meeting at 6:30 p.m. at the Stoneham Rescue Barn. Bring a dessert and whatever you want to drink. Discussion will be about the June 12 blood drive and the July 10 supper.

June 17 in Waterford there is a supper 5 to 6:30 p.m. at the North Waterford Congregational Church, 5 Kezars Rd., $7 adults, $3.50 under 12. It benefits the steeple fund. Menu includes baked beans, American chop suey, salads, rolls and desserts.

Guess that's all for today. Hope every one went to vote in the primary. We'll see if it makes a difference.

East Andover

by Joan Stinson-Carney

Happy birthday to Jean White who will turn 88 on June 17.

Cards would be nice.

Congratulations to Kevin Scott, who did a good job as moderator at last Saturday's Town Meeting. As you probably know by now Med-Care will be our ambulance service.

I had a good time working at the library last Saturday. Now on to history 101 or are you smarter than a third-grader? Here is a piece of history you may not know. In March 1941 the old Universalist Church, which had not been used for many years, was conveyed to the town to be used as a library.

With the stipulation that if for any reason it is not used as a library it will revert back to the church. The building is built of brown ash which Andover residents George and Sidney Abbott cut from their wood lot in North Andover; the building was built by Andover residents.

The librarians' pay in 1893 was $1.50 per week, only one book could be taken at a time and 2 cents a day for overdue books. In 1893 the library was downstairs at the town hall.

Don't forget Saturday the 21st is Children's Day at the library; all children are welcome to come at (check out) and view all the interesting things that our library has to offer.

The Food Garden for the food pantry is starting to grow; food or monetary donations are welcome. Hope Peterson, Pam Pace, and Alice Dixon really worked up a sweat on Sunday wedding but the garden sure looks great.

The East Andover Community Club met on Monday, the 9th, at the Cavalry Bible Church the hostess were Philena Chaisson and Barbra Meisner. A delicious dessert was served and we all had a good time. The Cavalry Bible Church is now in its summer hours — church starts at 9:30 a.m. and there will be refreshments after the service.

See 'ya!

From Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Noted author Neil Rolde of York, author of ten books, including "Unsettled Past, Unsettled Future," "The Interrupted Forest," "The Baxters of Maine," and "An Illustrated History of Maine," will be the featured speaker at the next lecture in the 2008 Bethel Historical Society Series, "Maine History: Varied and Vivid" on Thursday, June 12, in the exhibit hall of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Rolde's topic will be "The Enigma of James G. Blaine" and his appearance is made possible in part by a grant from the Maine Humanities Council. Rolde served as an assistant to Governor Curtis and as a member of the Maine House of Representatives for 16 years. He received his undergraduate education at Yale and earned a master's degree from the Columbian University School of Journalism. He is the recipient of the Neal W. Allen Award for "outstanding contributions in the field of Maine history and genealogy" from the Maine Historical Society. In 2005, he received the Constance H. Carlson Public Humanities Prize from the Maine Humanities Council for Extraordinary Contributions to the Interpretations of Maine History and his Encouragement of the Humanities in Maine. His interest in Blaine developed from his years of serving Governor Curtis and spending time at the Blaine House, home of Maine Governors since Carl Milliken moved there shortly after World War I. This experience led him to complete a biography of Blaine last year, which is entitled: "Continental Liar from the State of Maine: James G. Blaine."

Born in 1830 in West Brownsville, Pennsylvania, Blaine's life in Maine did not begin until 1854 when he assumed ownership of the Kennebec Journal following his marriage to Harriet Stanwood, an Augusta, Maine native. The Journal under Blaine's influence soon became an organ of the emerging Republican Party. In 1856, Blaine attended the first national convention of the new party. Two years later, he was elected to the State House of Representatives, where his considerable political skills were soon recognized. During his second term in the Maine House, he was elected to the speakership, which in turn provided a launching point for his run for the U.S. House of Representatives in 1862. As a member of the U.S. Congress, he generally supported hard money policies, high protective tariffs, subsidies for railroads and the Radical Republican reconstruction program. Six years later, Blaine was Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, a post that complemented his considerable skills as a skilled debater and his mastery of the intricacies of parliamentary maneuvering. From this point, Blaine developed a strong following that would be central to his political activities for the rest of his life and he was known as "the plumed knight." It was during this period that he was accused of using his office for political gain. Blaine responded to these charges with an impassioned defense, which seemed to answer most questions about his ethics but he never was able to exonerate himself completely. Yet even with this "cloud" over him, he ran for President several times, nearly winning in 1884 and served in two administrations as Secretary of State. Mr. Rolde will speak on Blaine and attempt to explain his popular appeal and his political legacy (or lack of one) for present and future generations. The lecture is free and open to anyone interested.

American Life in Poetry

Selection and comments by Ted Kooser, U.S. Poet Laureate 2004-2006

Among young people, tattoos are all the rage and, someday, dermatologists will grow rich as kings removing them from a lot of middle-aged people who have grown embarrassed by their colorful skins. I really like this poem by Sharmila Voorakkara of Ohio.

For the Tattooed Man

Because she broke your heart,
Shannon's a badge—
a seven-letter skidmark that scars up across your chest, a flare of indelible script.
Between Death or Glory, and Mama,
she rages,
scales the trellis of your rib cage;
her red hair swings down to bracket your ankles, whip up the braid of your backbone, cuff your wrists. She keeps you sleepless with her afterimage, and each pinned and martyred limb aches for more.

Her memory wraps you like a vise.
How simple the pain that trails and graces
the length of your body. How it fans, blazes, writes itself over in the blood's
tightening sighs,

Listings in The Citizen's weekly Community Calendar are compiled from a wide variety of sources. While we do our utmost to ensure the reliability of the information presented here, we recognize that when dealing with such a large volume of material, some inaccuracies will occasionally creep in. And in other cases, a sponsoring organization's plans may change between the time The Citizen is printed and the event is held. Accordingly, we strongly urge our readers to call ahead to verify the details of any event they plan to attend. Doing so will greatly reduce the chance of disappointment or needless inconvenience.

From West Paris Historical Society

To start off "Old Home Days" weekend, June 13 through 15, on Friday at 5:30 p.m. we will have our traditional baked bean casserole supper with all the homemade fixings and assorted delicious pies, with a very reasonable cost of $7 for adults and $3 for ages 12 and under. This is one of our largest fundraising events and your support would be deeply appreciated. It is also our Alumni Weekend so come on out and see all your old friends. In addition, the museum will be open 5 to 8 p.m. and also on Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m.

On Sunday, June 15th from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., we are joining together with the Friends of the Library and presenting Jerome Piesler, author of "All Hands Down," a book about the submarine "Scorpion" lost at sea and its Captain Slattery of West Paris, son of Bill and Doris Slattery of Pioneer Street. For more information on Old Home Days or the presentation of "All Hands Down," please call Betty Jones at 674-2507.

Also on Saturday and Sunday, the Great Falls Model Railroad will be in the Grange Hall. Presented by Beth and Jeff Chaffee. For more information, call Beth at 890-8420.

Come out and have a wonderful weekend!

From Waterford Library

Summer Readers' Theater Workshop
at the Waterford Library
The Waterford Library will offer a Readers' Theater Workshop this summer for students currently enrolled in grades five and six. Participants will develop a program based on poems by Shel Silverstein, meeting at the library on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:30 a.m. until noon, beginning on July 8, and resulting in a show for family and friends on August 7.

The workshop leader is Joanne Morse, who has been a full-time resident of Waterford since 2004, following a career as a high school English and drama teacher in New York state and later in Germany, the Netherlands, and Belgium in the Department of Defense

Dependent Schools. Joanne Morse has been active in various library and drama projects wherever she has lived, and she has assisted in planning several of the Oxford Hills Reads: One Book, One Community programs.

Pre-registration for the program is required no later than June 20. Please call or email the library to register at 583-2050 or wla@waterford.lib.me.us.

From Oxford County Education Association

The Oxford County Education Association - Retired will meet on June 20 at the Catholic Church on Paris Street in Norway. The social period starts at 10:30 a.m., the business meeting at 11 a.m.

There will be a Necrology Service and the fundraiser will be a yard sale. All retirees and support personnel are welcome. If you are not on a phone tree, call 743-7677 to reserve a lunch.

From Waterford World's Fair

Waterford World's Fair, 2007 Most Improved Small Agricultural Fair, is entering upon another fair season. The World's Fair will run from July 18-20. Livestock shows and contests that will be taking place will be: miniature horse show, draft horse show, saddle horse show, steer/ox show, ox pulls and horse pulls. Livestock demonstrations will include: llamas, rabbits, steer, goats, sheep and horses.

There will be pig scrambles and scarecrow-making contest. Other demonstrations and displays will include: fiber arts, solar tractor, antique tractors and engines, working dogs, and woodsman/logging. Rod & Kustom Cruisers will drive in with their vehicles and Imari & Sahara Desert Dancers will perform. There will be baking contests for apple and blueberry pies, chocolate chip cookies and whoopie pies and a potato salad stir off.

Thanks to Norway Savings Bank, Waterman Farm Machinery and Hall

Implement, there will be a peddle tractor pull. Other contests are: He Man, Wee Man, Couch Potato, Ladies Skillet Throw and Karaoke. The Saturday night highlight will be a Community Variety Show to showcase local talent. To participate in the Karaoke and the Variety Show we ask that you please pre-register by calling 583-5256. We are looking for local musicians, fiddlers, banjo or guitar players or any others who would be interested in performing on Sunday, July 20 in the afternoon. Please contact me at the number above.

Volunteers are needed to help with assorted events and activities. Please call Dottie at the number above to volunteer.

The Waterford World's Fair website, for more information, is www.nwwf08.org.

From Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats will hold a Unity Rally and Spaghetti Supper on Sunday, June 22, at 5 p.m., at the American Legion Hall in Dixfield. "This event continues our tradition of good food and conversation," County Chairperson Cathy Newell of Greenwood stated. "We will be recognizing the participants in our caucuses and in the convention who supported Senator Clinton, Senator Obama and others throughout the process as well as planning for a successful summer and fall campaign." Suggested donations for the dinner are $5 and will be accepted at the door. The American Legion Hall is located on Main Street (Route 2) in Dixfield.

The website for the Oxford County Democrats, www.oxforddems.org is undergoing an upgrade that will integrate communication methods, including the electronic newsletter, our Flickr photo page and candidate information.

Online contributions are accepted to support the Oxford Democrats and the individual candidates for county office through Act Blue, www.actblue.com/page/oxforddems. To receive the electronic newsletter, contact Cathy Newell at cathyn@megalink.net.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU AFTER YOU BUY THE HOME

The contract is signed, and you are thrilled that the house is finally yours, but there are still some important steps to take before it is a done deal.

Right after the contract is signed, your check will be deposited into an escrow account, where it will await the finalization of the sale. If you need to transfer funds in order to cover the full amount, do so several days in advance.

The purchase agreement allows a certain period of time for home inspections to take place, so don't delay in scheduling the inspector's visit. You may have to re-negotiate the purchase price if a defect is significant and was not disclosed prior to signing the contract.

You will need to arrange for home insurance. Lenders won't issue a mortgage without insurance coverage, so call your insurance agent or ask your REALTOR® for recommendations.

Be prepared for what happens after you buy the home, and you'll avoid building delays into the transaction.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

Card of Thanks

To the people of the Bethel Community who have offered their support by using their talents and prayers, I am very grateful. "An Evening of Melody" was a wonderful showcase of the talent we have here. The ability to organize, present and record the show is very much appreciated.

I'm happy to have shared this evening with my family and community. It's hard to beat a small town when you need support.

Happy Fathers Day! "Dad"

If tears could build a stairway, and memories a lane,
I would walk right up to Heaven and bring you back again.

No farewell words were spoken.
No time to say Goodbye,
You were gone before I knew it,
and only God knows why.

My heart still aches with sadness,
and secret tears still flow,
What it mean to love you -
No one can ever know.

I Miss You and Love You Always!
